At the same time, the intelligence that's built into the Enphase technology offers you the flexibility to handle whatever the future might bring— from home expansions to smart home and smart grid integration.

Enphase produces more energy

What do you prefer – a personal tutor for your child or a classroom full of students and one teacher?

Enphase is like a personal tutor for each of your solar panels. Each Enphase microinverter gets the best out of each panel and ensures that your overall system performs to its maximum capability.

This means, that over time an Enphase System will always outperform a string/conventional solar system. And this translates into real $$ savings.

Enphase is more reliable

Enphase microinverters are used in over 100 countries – from all across Australia and India to Alaska and even Antarctica. This means that they operate in very cold but also very hot and humid climates without fail, thanks to very rigorous 1,000,000 power-on hours of testing before any new generation of microinverters gets released.

Enphase is perfect for your home

Every part of the Enphase Home Energy Solution is designed to have minimal impact on your home. Wiring and equipment are out of sight, and our low voltage design boosts safety.

Enphase is smarter monitoring

Once installed, you can view how your system is doing from your mobile or tablet through Enphase MyEnlighten and make decisions on how to use your electricity more efficiently. Get the MyEnlighten app at the App Store or Google Play Store.
